

Early turkey

There is no cafeteria at Willowcrest School but tables are set up for the youngsters who draw their hot meals direct from the kitchen at one end of the all-purpose room. This particular meal featured turkey and trimmings as a forerunner of Thanksgiving.

Frankfort board takes second look at PUD law

FRANKFORT — Sewer systems serving new developments that come under the jurisdiction of the Frankfort village board will have to be equipped with flygt submersible pump wet well lift stations, it was decided by the board Monday night.

Trustee Wilbert Klier, head of the Sewer and Water Committee, recommended this type of lift station, following an inspection tour of such installations with Bruce Hamilton, of Robert E. Hamilton, consulting engineers, village engineers for Frankfort. Bruce Hamilton, who also attended the Monday night meeting, said his firm also recommended the use of this type of lift station.

It is drawn and with this type pump it is drawn and repaired, eliminating the necessity of workers descending into a manhole and doing the work there. These stations are said to cost from $6,000 to $10,000, and will have to be purchased by the developer. The developer also will have to provide an auxiliary power unit, for each lift station, as a safeguard against a possible electric power failure.

Phones, contractors anger village board

MOKENA — Members of the Mokena village board got their backs up a bit at their last meeting telephone service and unfinished business by contractors.

After airing views on the quality of service given Mokena telephone subscribers the council voted to send a communication to the ICC protesting any increases in rates, such as Illinois Bell is asking for calls packs, or metropolitan service.

It was brought out that the only places a Mokena subscriber could telephone without paying toll was Frankfort and New Lenox and that lately they were being charged for calls to those towns because the subscriber, unable to get his number by dialing, was forced to ask the operator for assistance.

Supposedly no charge is made if the subscriber explains to the operator that he is having difficulty and that he is unable to get the number he wants by direct dialing. It is possible some forget to tell the operator and it is possible the operator forgets to make a note of the trouble, it was said.

Anyway, according to council member, some people are complaining they are being billed for getting assistance in getting numbers. The telephone company, a spokesman said, is endeavoring to clear up the difficulties as rapidly as possible and reportedly is running a new trunk line to Chicago Heights, through which Mokena calls go.

Complaints about the telephone were not the only ones aired before the village board. One of the thing that has brought the building inspector to a low boil is the manner in which builders and householders ignore the fact that occupancy permits have not been issued for buildings.

People move in when they are ready to move in, regardless of whether the premises are ready for occupancy, it was brought out by John Klieforth the building inspector. He urged the village board to adopt a formal policy on the subject, and stick with it.

Klieforth mentioned no names but said that in several instances he was informed by builders or owners that some Burton Breidert, business manager for the village, distributed copies of an amended Planned Unit Development (PUD) ordinance prepared by the village planner, for study by the trustees. He also spoke of possible amendments to the subdivision ordinance and in both the requirements for bonds posted by developers will be completely spelled out.

He also recommends that one person, whether the attorney, the business manager or one of the trustees, be made responsible for having all the requirements met.

Breidert said one of the big problems today in new developments is the infiltration of sanitary sewer mains by surface water. He suggests that included in the ordinance should be a provision requiring TV inspection of lines as they are installed as a guard against infiltrations. The cost, he said, would be about $240 for inspection of 1,000 feet of main, such expense to be borne by the developer.

Breidert said he is working on a state grant for the sewage plant improvement and is hopeful the village will receive approximately $177,000 in January or February.

He also reported that a study is being made of a proposed well site off Laraway Road.

Breidert also reported that a 10-page booklet — typewritten and run through a copier — has been prepared which is given out to all persons who come to the village hall to arrange for a water meter for their residence or commercial building. It combines history with the present and sets forth the various services offered and what has been done and is being done to make living here more pleasant. Some of the booklets have been given to the Chamber of Commerce as much of the material could be used by that body.

Trustee Howard Osmus reported on the Water Commission meeting held Nov. 8 at Romeoville and said that the ad hoc committee is preparing to present questions, information and criticism at the next session, Nov. 29, which also will be held at Romeoville. Breidert said he is preparing a list for submission after it has been approved by the various committee heads of the village board.

Trustee Lynn Kohlhaugen, head of the Street Committee, reported that the Center Road improvement between the E.J. & E. crossing and Sauk Trail is scheduled for letting in January. It is expected to cost approximately $66,000, to be shared by the county and the village.

Because of a technicality the ordinance covering the inspection, approval and installation of burglar alarms to have a hook-up with Central Police Communications system was rescinded and re-adopted.

Village Attorney August J. Santoro also presented an ordinance which was adopted under which members of the Plan Commission and the Village Zoning Board of Appeals will receive payment annually on meetings attended during the year at the rate of $15 a meeting.

He also recommended that the Plan Commission check the ordinances dealing with side yards. Since to Aug. 5, 1968 a minimum of 10-foot side yards is required but prior to that date a five-foot side yard was sufficient. He also called attention to an ordinance that a garage erected in the rear yard of a residence can be built within three feet of the side property line.

trustee had said it was alright for them to move in without an occupancy permit.

In the discussion that followed it was generally agreed that in as much as a condominium was purchased by the future occupant it should be treated as a single family residence and an occupancy permit issued when one of the units was done. In townhouses or apartment buildings, however, the entire building will have to be completed before it is ready for occupancy. It was brought out, however, that a condominium could not be described as completed until it was accessible to the owner. In some instances, it was brought, people have moved into places which they cannot get into without wading through mud and water. Living units occupied by persons are supposed to have streets and sidewalks. Klieforth suggests there should be a central spokesman trying such as Berle Needham, for him to deal with rather than trying to reach several board members.

The council talked of enacting an ordinance which would bring penalties ranging from $5 to $500 for moving into a residence without an occupancy permit.

People are living in buildings now that cannot be reached by police or fire equipment should the need arise, it was brought out.

Trustee Chester Ebert made a motion, that carried, to halt all construction work and occupancy until sewage treatment is restored to normal. The continuing rains through much of October and November has placed a tremendous burden on the treatment plant.

Trustee Chester Ebert made a motion, that carried, to halt all construction work and occupancy until sewage treatment is restored to normal. The continuing rains through much of October and November has placed a tremendous burden on the treatment plant.

"We can't wear out our equipment treating storm water," Ebert said. The ground is so saturated that the sewer lines have become infiltrated with surface water.

District 122 receives funds of Bentley gift

NEW LENOX — A gift from the late Caroline Bentley to New Lenox Grade School District 122, of over half a million dollars, has been turned over to the district treasurer by the executors of the estate, C.W. Batson and Ralph Agate.

According to School Superintendent Arnold J. Tyler the amount is $520,000.

In her will Miss Bentley provided that the New Lenox School District was to receive the net proceeds from the sale of two farms, totaling 190 acres. The will specified that these proceeds be placed in a special memorial trust fund in memory of Caroline, James, Mary and Beulah Bentley, and must be used by the district to construct permanent school facilities.

Caroline Bentley was a life resident of New Lenox Township and for a number of years was a teacher in the New Lenox Grade School, at Haven and Oak streets, the present site of Maplewood Cemetery. Throughout her years of retirement Miss Bentley continued to display an interest in the schools and the educational opportunities for children of New Lenox Township.

Her father, James Bentley, who preceded her in death, was at one time a member of the Illinois state legislature.

"The board of education, the administration, and the citizens of the New Lenox community," said Supt. Tyler, "are very grateful for this generous and thoughtful gift to benefit the children and citizens of the New Lenox School District."

New Lenox adopts subdivision statute

NEW LENOX — The newly revised subdivision ordinance has been adopted by the village board, whose members hail it as a milestone for the village.

The measure has been the work of the village board, the planning and zoning groups and the village planner. According to them it will be of benefit to developers as well as the village. Instead of spending hours in debate and question and answer sessions developers can now be given a copy of the subdivision ordinance, told to abide by it and the BOCA building code, and the other codes and allowed to proceed as long as they conform to all the provisions.

The new subdivision measure spells out regulations covering condominiums, townhouses and apartments; requires sidewalks and curbs and gutters on both sides of the streets; bituminous paving, and larger lot sizes; to hit some of the high points. Under the previous ordinance lots with an area of 65 by 125 feet were sanctioned; under the new ordinance lots must be at least 75 by 125 feet.

The trustees point out that the new lot sizes will give developers less density and residents more open space. The ordinance also specifies the location of water and sewer lines and the wiring.

According to the trustees the new ordinance should save them and developers, as well as members of the planning commission and zoning board a lot of time in negotiating on new developments. Roy Fitzer of the New Lenox Township Library board appeared before the village council to ask that the library be added to the schools as recipients of donations from developers to take up the tax lag that new building generates.

It is usually about two years after a new building is erected before any taxes are paid on it. The schools have worked out a formula for cash donations based on land valuations.

When Frankfort adopted the ordinance advocated by the schools the Public Library District there was included in the measure and is to receive $15 per living unit as its individual donation. The Frankfort board already had an ordinance covering new developments in which it requested land contributions which could be used for park purposes.

The park board at Frankfort did not care to be included in the ordinance with the schools and library, according to a representative present at the village board meeting when the ordinance was adopted. The park district, the representative said, would look after its own interest but was more interested in land grants than cash.

At New Lenox Fitzer said the library board there would be satisfied with the same deal sought by the Frankfort Library, $15 a living unit. Acting Mayor James Warning said before any action was taken the board should also consult with the New Lenox park commissioners.

At its previous meeting the board voted to vacate an alley between two pieces of property Joseph Davies has purchased on the south side of Route 30 next to the old Methodist Camp Grounds. Last Wednesday night an ordinance covering this was formally adopted. Davies paid the village $1,750 for the strip which had been dedicated as an alley but was never used as such.

Trustees William Brown and Lutz Guenther represent the New Lenox board on the ad hoc committee named to confer with the Area Water Commission on the proposed use of Kankakee River as the main source of the water supply for the area.

Brown explained that members of the ad hoc committee are to report back at a meeting Nov. 29 with suggestions and questions in writing.

Brown himself said he thought the engineering bill of some $950,000 as quoted by the Water Commission was about twice what it should be. The water commission has said they will be able to sell the water at 55 cents per 1,000 gallons and most of the village say this is too high. The villages want to know how much of this river water would be used by industry.

Industry is one of the causes of the dropping of the water table in this area, water engineers have been saying for years, and every community is endeavoring to bring in more industry. The Water Commission, which is about out of money, has asked the seven municipalities that comprise it, to underwrite the financing to get started and until such time as the Commission can issue revenue bonds. Joliet, Frankfort, Mokena, New Lenox, Rockdale, Lockport and Romeoville are the municipalities in the Water Commission. Joliet, being the largest, was asked to underwrite the affair to the extent of some $400,000 and the city council there turned it down.

New businesses

"Frankfort Off the Main," is the name given by Ralph Show to the new shopping complex recently opened on U.S. 45, about a block north of U.S. 30. The long brick structure with its 1890 air houses a food market, liquor store, offices and a self-service laundry.

Westhaven village board musters quorum

WESTHAVEN — Even with the absence of Mayor Curtis Whitaker, Westhaven Trustees were still able to attain a quorum at the Nov. 18 meeting of the Village Board, thus allowing for the legal transaction of business.

First on the agenda was the approval of two appointments to fill vacancies left by the resignations of past board members. Those sworn in and taking their seats at the council table were Thomas Marshall, 15956 Haven Avenue, and Daniel Disabato of 16033 Haven Avenue. The two men are replacing Gerald Devero and Diane Bartholmey, both of whom left village service in recent weeks.

Following was the board's acceptance of the resignation of Trustee William Pressler; this had been read two weeks earlier, but due to lack of a quorum, could not be officially accepted. Pressler, in his letter to the board, said he was forced to quit because of his recent change of address (outside the village).

At the meeting, Trustee Pressler gave what amounted to a farewell speech, saying, "It has been enlightening and frustrating, but enjoyable to work with the trustees, and for the village." The board members were, in his opinion, very concerned for the village welfare. He then wished new board members good luck in their work.

Returning to the regular agenda, Clerk Mrs. Barbara Sea sought the board's approval to appropriate money, not to exceed $300.00 prior to placing her order for 1973 village vehicle stickers. (Residents will pay $5.00 a vehicle sticker per car, and $7.50 a vehicle sticker for trucks.)

The motion was carried; although the order was to be placed Monday morning, the stickers will not be available until nearly the end of December.

In other action, Trustee Donald Kellogg read the public notice of the zoning hearing concerning the development of 98 acres of Westhaven land by Western Land Planning, Inc., of Chicago. The hearing is scheduled for Monday, Dec. 4, at 8:00 a.m. At that time, specific plans for development will be discussed, and complaints or objections of local residents concerning the proposed action will be heard.

A second notice was read by Kellogg, regarding the revision of the subdivision ordinance. In an effort to save time, trustees agreed that the lengthy ordinance would be read at the zoning hearing on December 4, rather than at last Saturday's meeting of the board.

A motion was made and unanimously carried that village attorney Ronald Glink should be present at the Dec. 4 zoning hearing.

Village trustees also approved the suggestion to hire an architect to serve the village on a per job cost basis. The architect, not yet appointed, would work with Westhaven engineers and contractors interested in construction within the village.

Also approved was the motion by new Trustee Thomas Marshall to hire Harold W. Wagner of 14936 88th Avenue for snow removal at $20 an hour, with a minimum of four hours each time.

Marshall's suggestion to retain Otis Brumer of Worth, Illinois, for salting the streets during winter months was also approved.

Trustee Merrideth Macki then made a motion that authorization be given to Marshall to call on Wagner and Brumer for their services at his own discretion. This, too, met with board approval.

It was reported that the well now being dug to provide water for Westhaven is progressing satisfactorily. Well diggers from Citizen's Utilities said that at a depth of 600 feet, they have struck solid rock. This is good, they said, because it indicates a better chance to draw pure water, free of muddy deposits.

Citizen's Utilities hopes to have a lift station completed by March 1, 1973. In January, 1973, the company will submit plans for a pumping station to be built on 94th Avenue and 165th Street.

Other business at the Nov. 18 meeting included the appointment of a temporary village plumbing inspector, David J. Cercone of 16010 S. Olcott Avenue. He will work for a salary of $5.00 per two inspections.

Cercone replaces the present Village plumbing inspector, John Curtin, who has been drafted into the military service.

In concluding business, Village Clerk Mrs. Sea was given authorization to combine the clerk's office with the building department's office. Only the office spaces will be doubled up; Mrs. Sea will not assume the Building Inspectors' responsibilities. She will, however, take on that department's paper work.

Brewery or Playboy Club?

TINLEY PARK — Students from Kirby School's eighth grade classes last week sought approval from the Board of Education of School District 140 for a proposed class trip to Milwaukee, Wisconsin. Included in the trip would be a tour of a Milwaukee zoo, a city park and a brewery.

According to superintendent John Bannes, several parents already have called him to voice disapproval over the jaunt through a brewery. However, board members decided they had no objection to such an excursion, saying that such a trip is indeed informative and educational.

Board President David Liedtke acknowledged that there would probably be parents who would object for religious reasons. Also, it is possible that some students might be allergic to some ingredients used in the product, including yeast, for example. These children would not be forced to tour the brewery, but rather, they could wait in the bus, or perhaps find some other activity as a replacement.

Traditionally, the students have been allowed to choose the city and activities for their field trip. Last year, the eighth graders voted to see Springfield, the state capital.

Superintendent Bannes told the school board that the Class of '73 had chosen, as its alternative selection, a trip to Lake Geneva, Wisconsin, which would include, among other things, touring the Playboy Club.

No date has been set for the trip, but it usually takes place at the end of the school year, in May or June.

In other action at the Nov. 16 meeting, board members agreed to write letters of protest to state legislators, voicing disapproval of Governor Richard Ogilvie's proposed Property Tax Freeze Act.

The general consensus among the board members was that the act is contradictory, and would probably affect the school district unfavorably. The Illinois Association of School Boards has suggested amendments to the Property Tax Freeze Act that include the recommendation that school districts be exempt from the freeze because it could adversely affect the school districts.

In concluding business, district 140 board members reviewed school boundary lines between its own district and that of district 146. A dispute over the boundaries began when it was noted that nine homes on Alcott Avenue, listed as part of district 146, were supporting district 140 via their tax dollars.

Superintendent John Bannes reported that the county will establish distinct boundary lines in an effort to eliminate the problem.

Fernway releases park to Orland for operation

ORLAND PARK — Members of the Fernway Improvement Association voted Monday night to allow Orland Park to assume maintenance and financial responsibilities for the Fernway park area located on Robinhood Drive at 167th Street and 166th Place.

In a letter to John L. Wiet, president of the Fernway Sanitary District in Tinley Park, the request was made on behalf of the FIA to release the titles to lots number 181, 182 and 183 to Orland Park. Orland then must underwrite insurance costs, in addition to tending to all necessary repairs of the playground equipment.

The letter stipulated that if the Village of Orland Park does not maintain the 1 1/2 acre plot properly, the Fernway Improvement Association will reclaim the land.

chided board members for the transaction before it was put to a vote, saying, "Since Fernway wanted the park, Fernway should keep it and take care of it."

Walker conceded, however, when association President Robert Palucki pointed out that the move would actually be a beneficial one. Financially speaking, Palucki remarked, it is a good idea to let Orland take over the property.

Also at the Nov. 20 meeting, vice-president David Kemp submitted names of seven missing street signs that Orland Park has agreed to replace. Signs missing were those at 161st Place and 88th Avenue; 161st Place; Robinhood Drive; 167th Street and Robinhood Drive; 169th Street and 88th Avenue; 168th Street and 88th Avenue and 164th Street.

Kemp also reported that two signs, with the street name incorrect, would be replaced. The signs read "Sussex Street"; the street is properly called "Sussex Drive."

It was noted, too, that the street light at Robinhood Drive and Sussex Drive has been burned out for some time, and will be replaced.

The board approved the appropriation of money to be used as cash awards in the Christmas Lights and Decorating Contest. Totaling $50.00, the prizes will be as follows: first place, $25.00; second place, $15.00 and third place, $10. Categories will include most elaborate, most unusual and most original.

To be eligible for competition, prospective contestants must be members of the FIA; the $3.00 dues fee is payable until Dec. 16. Also, decorations must be completed and Christmas lights on during the judging time, 7 p.m. until 8:30 p.m. on Sunday, Dec. 17.

FIA board members will judge all entries; their decision is final. President Palucki's suggestion that prize money be awarded at the Monday, Dec. 18, meeting of the association was approved.

In a letter from the H & R Refuse Disposal Service, residents were advised that the H & R Company prefers that refuse be encased in disposable plastic bags. Also, the company wrote that refuse must be placed at the curb, street or alley before the arrival of the trucks on Thursdays. Additionally, newspapers must be bundled and tied.

Jack Bath, 8601 W. 170th Street, Scoutmaster of Troop 336, notified the association that the Boy Scouts will have a paper drive on Saturday, Dec. 2. He asked that residents bundle the papers and leave them at the end of the driveways to simplify pick-up procedures.

The scouts are paid a fixed sum of money per 100 pounds of paper collected. Proceeds will finance troop activities and the purchase of camping equipment.

Mrs. Raymond Tencza, chairwoman of the Rebate Project, asked that patrons of Mr. Ed's IGA Foodliner on 143rd Street and Route 45, save register receipt tapes and send them to the FIA, Box 134, Tinley Park, Ill. 60477.

The association will realize one per cent of total sales, to be deposited into the general working fund. There is no deadline for the project, Mrs. Tencza said.

Concluding business at the meeting was the report that vehicle stickers will be available at the village hall on Dec. 1. Cost for stickers for cars is $5.00 each; prices for trucks is determined by the letter in the truck's license plate.

Deadline date for vehicle stickers is March 1. After that time, the cost of each sticker doubles.

Winners of the Thanksgiving turkey drawing were Herbert Walker, Jr., 16431 90th Avenue; Mrs. Patricia Rath, 16630 Robinhood Drive; and Chester Dudek, 3611 W. 170th Street.

Catalina will organize

ORLAND PARK — With a turnout of representatives from 100 homes residents of Catalina subdivision, 80th Avenue and 151st Street, gave approval to start the wheels in motion for the founding of a homeowner's association. The group met Wednesday, Nov. 15, at the Village administration building.

More than 300 homes are presently occupied in Catalina and convenor Mrs. Jerry Gobby said many problems exist which affect the homeowners. "The big thing is they want the school district changed," she said.

Although the subdivision is in Orland Park and in High School District 230 elementary school children are in Tinley Park District 146. According to the convenor residents are dissatisfied with the open classroom approach in District 146, and would prefer being included in Orland Park District 135.

Other problems which have high priority are the concern with being annexed from the Tinley Park Park District and the Tinley Park telephone exchange 532.

Volunteer block captains have been assigned to each street and court. The captains will visit the homes seeking resident's views. A meeting of block captains will be held Dec. 13. The next full meeting will be held in January when the results of the block captains' efforts will be reported.

Ted Voss, president of Catalina Builders, attended the Wednesday meeting and made himself available for questioning. "We're neither for nor against an association," he said. However, "We could not become active nor become part of it."

Voss said the group should anticipate a population in Catalina of from 5,000 - 6,000 people within seven years. He said that this could be the largest homeowners' group in Orland Park. For this reason the builder cautioned the group to begin the association in an orderly manner with a good set of by-laws. "Take your time and seek out competent people to read it (the by-laws)," Voss urged.

Robert Dowdy, who was active in the recent formation of the Maycliff Homeowners' Association, also spoke to the group outlining advantages and pitfalls in such an organization.

Star, Citizen union remains undecided

ORLAND PARK — A full and complete hearing was held Thursday, Nov. 16, on the request by Star Utility to tie into Citizen's Utility lines. Star is asking approval of the Illinois Commerce Commission to approve a contract to tie into the 20-inch force main being laid by Citizens at 139th Street parallel to the high tension lines west of 82nd Avenue and east of Villa West.

In its rebuttal arguments the attorney for Star heard an engineer's testimony from Mark Lovejoy and Associates. Thrust of his testimony was to show that there is a need for service in the area. The engineer also testified that the 18-inch line, almost parallel to Citizen's line, which the village of Orland Park will own, will be cut to 15".

According to the rebuttal testimony such a line would be inadequate in the immediate future for the proposed planned unit development proposed by Capitol Equities Corporation along with Hillcrest Builders at 143rd Street near 82nd Avenue.

The hearing was continued to Dec. 19 at which time Louis Gentile, attorney for the village, will have an opportunity to cross-examine this last rebuttal witness.

After closing arguments from both sides the record will be marked as heard and taken, and the examiner will prepare a suggested order. A ruling will be given by the full commission and an order handed down in accordance with the ruling. However, an appeal can be entered to the ruling by the losing side.

It was a history lesson

FRANKFORT — Harlan Eisenbrandt stopped in at the meeting of the Frankfort Historical Society last Thursday night just to show the members an aerial map showing the line a railroad that never was had planned to take through the northeastern quarter of Frankfort Township.

He stayed on, however, to give the group some information about earlier times in the village and area.

The railroad mentioned was the Chicago, Decatur and St. Louis. Work had been started and the map shows mounds where grading had taken place. Some of these mounds are visible in Green Garden, which is the closest that township ever came to having a railroad. Eisenbrandt said that the Chicago Fire of 1871 destroyed all the railroads records and shortly afterwards it went bankrupt.

He also told of wagon and buggy trains coming to Frankfort from South Bend, Ind., using Sauk Trail.

The front wheels of each were removed and stored inside the vehicle and they were coupled together to a lead wagon, drawn by oxen.

Some of the buggies thus transported were dropped off in Frankfort at the Warner buggy shop on Ash Street, alongside his residence. The shop is gone but the house is still there, Eisenbrandt said, with a side door that led into the shop.

Because the third Thursday in December would come too close to Christmas the date for the next meeting of the society will be Dec. 14, it was announced.

De-annexation studied

Residents will find job tough

ORLAND PARK — If indeed residents of Catalina wish to be in Orland Park School District 135 and to de-annex from Tinley Park District 146 they may find it possible but tough going.

District 135 Supt. Norbert Jerling said, "It can be done, and there are some reasons why it might be done; but whether it will be done is something else."

Jerling went on to say a part or a whole of a school district may be annexed to another district through a decision of the County Board of School Trustees. The petitioners would appeal for a hearing before the board at which time both Boards of Education involved would present arguments.

The county board would then weigh advantages and disadvantages to the students and to the districts. They alone could change the boundary. In the event of objections from one or both districts, in this case presumably District 146, those objections would have to be satisfactorily answered for the county board.

Jerling advised any group seeking such a change to first contact an attorney for help. Should both districts agree to the redistricting arrangements could be amicably worked out between the Boards of Education. However, he pointed out District 146 has begun a new school facility in Catalina.

In the past 24 years five districts have annexed all or part to District 135. In some cases annexation has occurred by the block. However, all areas considered for annexation to District 135 must be contiguous to the district.

Dr. Robert Procunier, superintendent of District 146, agree, "There are possibilities" for implementing annexations. However, he cautioned, "It takes agreement between a lot of people." When asked if District 146 would agree to de-annexing Catalina he replied, "I doubt it. Not after building a facility."

In September, 1973 District 146 expects to complete a kindergarten to sixth grade building at 7617 Hemlock in Catalina. The building costing well over $500,000 was begun last summer after being in the planning stages since spring, 1971. The land on which the building lies was donated by Arnold Kruse after whom the school is named. It is designed to serve 700 children in Catalina and parts of Bremen Towne Estates.

Some Catalina homeowners cite the open classroom approach in District 146 as their reason for wishing to be out of the district. They also say they bought their homes thinking they were in District 135. Mrs. Carolyn Gobby, convenor of the Catalina Homeowners said of the builder, "Nobody ever told us we were in 146. They never told us until we bought and signed on the land."

However, Catalina President Ted Voss disagrees. "We have always been aware we were in 146 and have done some work with 146 in getting the new building here. We thought it best. Such information could not have come from our sales office."

Voss added that two years ago residents of Silver Lake Dells subdivision investigated the problem of joining 135. The area lies partly in District 135 and partly in District 146. At that time residents decided to remain with 146, and two years ago Catalina made the decision to remain in District 146.

In commenting on the open classroom approach in his district Dr. Procunier said, "Sometimes it is very difficult for parents to accept."

An open space classroom makes minimal use of walls or separations between learning groups. One of the first public school districts in the nation to offer an open plan concept from kindergarten through high school was the Spring Independent School District in Houston, Texas.

As many as 350 students gather in one large room and are separated into teacher directed working groups. The resultant hubbub is termed "noise" by opponents of the concept, and "sounds of learning" by advocates of the system, which seems to be rapidly gaining in popularity.

The second addition to District 135 Junior High School building embraces a form of the open space planning. The "learning centers" are without a fourth wall, have recessed side walls, and open into a central court area.

Future in their hands

Does Will County have the vision to see and recognize the one over-riding problem that is endangering not only its financial structure but also the kind of life its residents face?

The older residents of our farmland communities have reluctantly and stubbornly faced the reality that life in Will County will never be the same again and therefore isolated themselves within their respective cocoons. The new residents coming from the large City of Chicago and more metropolitan urban communities are seeing the idyllic beauty of our communities threatened by project builders uninhibited and uncontrolled by archaic and inapplicable zoning laws.

The old settlers can personally afford the luxury of their cocoons and the new residents can delude themselves with the assumption that the county fathers are protecting them.

But what are the facts? Do the county fathers of Will County have the "I will Spirit"? The County Board members are not old fogies. They are old enough to be experienced and young enough to be hopeful for a more planned development of our county. But the fact is that they have done absolutely nothing to evidence an awareness of the rapaciousness of the many builders who have and are continuing to build shoddy structures with absolutely no consideration for any more than the minimum requirements of those ancient regulations formulated for a farming community by long gone ancestors. The individual and group complaints of an irate citizenry are many and they ring out loud and clear to all it seems but our County Board members.

It is not alone that they continue to ignore what has been done to our communities so far. They seem determined to ignore these storm warnings and are continuing to block all efforts to adequately structure and provide for a modern Planning Commission capable of preventing the erecting of "shanty towns." Such a commission also would give notice to prospective builders that they would be required to consider the county's economic and esthetic needs before proceeding.

The functions of such a commission are frequently misunderstood by taxpayers and government officials. When taxpayers raise strong objections to rising taxes, supposedly unimportant services are the first to receive major budget cuts in the interest of saving money. The fledgling Will County Planning Commission functions are not unimportant and the commission deserves a higher priority and consideration.

A proposed budget, considered minimal at best, of $120,000 was cut recently by the County Board to $69,000. Jerome Paddock of Lockport Township, who is a county board member, voted against the original budget request citing the growing resentment of taxpayers against high real estate taxes as his reason. Roy Hassert, chairman of the Will County Board, also continued his personal long standing policy of opposing county planning by voting for the budget cut.

The County Board members from the Democratic party voted unanimously in favor of the budget cut as did several Republican members. Most or all of these board members cited their constituent's opposition to higher taxes as one of their reasons for so voting.

A properly planned county will not cost the taxpayers money. It will in fact save them hundreds of thousands or millions of dollars annually. Considerable amounts of state and federal funds are available to a properly staffed and structured county planning commission under several formulas. These contributions will allow the commission to pay salaries and hire recognized expert planners and administrators.

Presently, Will County had few if any properly qualified paid administrators who can do the work that is needed in a growing area. The county proposes to pay nearly $10,000 per year to one of its present employees to be an executive secretary and planning technician in the Planning Commission office. This employee has no formal planning training and yet the county proposes to pay the executive director of the commission $12,000 per year. The executive director is expected to be degreed and experienced in his field. The Village of Bolingbrook just hired a planner at a salary of $18,000.

Proof of the savings potential possible with a well staffed and financed planning commission can be found within our own county. About two years ago Glenn P. Coburn of Frankfort Township established an extra-judicial Frankfort Township Planning Commission with no budget, no paid employees, no offices and no official status. In two years this planning commission has dealt with two developers of property in the township and has earned major concessions for them which benefited the township taxpayers to the tune of $1 million. It is certain that the developments would have been built and that the township taxpayers would have been required eventually to foot the $1 million bill for schools, roads and fire protection.

Frankfort Township has nearly 10,000 residents. In one year, its planning commission has saved every resident $100. Instead these expenses were eliminated by Hoffman Rosner Developers and 3 H Building Corporation agreeing to pay certain lump sums to taxing agencies within the township. The schools will receive $900,000, $50,000 to the fire protection district, $2,500 to the library district, $90,000 to the township highway department for road improvement and land acquisition and $3,000 in consulting fees incurred by the township to hire Success Research Associates, these municipal planning engineers served as consultants to the township planning commission in its dealing with the developers. Their fees were paid in full by the developers.

Since the Frankfort Township Planning Commission is an unofficial body, it has no legal authority with which it can force a developer to contribute these sums. The Hoffman Rosner and 3 H commitments were made voluntarily.

The County Board should not rely upon such a dedicated, unpaid and unselfish township committee activity to fulfill these obligations and responsibilities endowed in the board. The task also requires the continuity and legal powers which are vested in the board for these purposes.

The next meeting of the Will County Board is Dec. 4. Members of the board have it within their power to restore the budget cut they made against the Will County Planning Commission. Taxpayers and concerned citizens who really want to see their taxes lower would do well to contact the County Board members and impress upon them that just cutting budgets is not the only way to reduce taxes. They were elected to exercise good judgment in the running of a government for today and tomorrow. We urge the board members to vote for the restoration of the $51,000 cut from the Will County Planning Commission budget and to seek competent employees for that office.

On second thought

Cocktail hour best part of adult ed class

BY GLENN LOGAN

Going back quite a few generations ago one notes that the educational field was largely devoted to reading, writing and arithmetic, or the three R's, as the poor spellers referred to them. One could also add that the early teachers also were strong on deportment.

They still teach reading, writing and arithmetic today, but it is debatable how much reading skill is achieved. Writing is about the same. The arithmetic is all new stuff. Spelling is atrocious and any teacher or parent who endeavors to improve deportment through physical action is quite apt to wind up before a bleeding heart judge.

But the schools today do have a wide variety of subjects to offer those of school age, as well as those over school age that fit into the adult evening school bracket.

The night school program really has variety, ranging from accupunctue through beginning and advanced sewing classes to zither playing.

High schools offer evening classes to adults and so do junior colleges. I have noticed that any of them offer a course in lion taming, or building up wild animal sets, but there are subjects available for those who like to live a bit on the dangerous side.

Like for instance, learning to play bridge, working on wood and metal with power tools, electrical wiring, and now comes Joliet Junior College with a course on skiing.

Besides contusions and lacerations one can also collect a one semester honor credit for completing the six sessions, which are held in two sections on Saturdays 9 a.m. to noon, and 1 to 4 p.m. The course began last Saturday and ends Jan. 13. It costs $10 for tuition, plus $14 in fees. Splints and casts are extra. The prospectus does not state whether there will be a doctor or an ambulance on hand. According to Ken Parker, athletic director, the instructor will be Gilbert Bell, and the course is open to any residents in the Joliet College district.

The course, Parker went on to explain, is designed for those who have never been skiing or have only tried it once or twice.

"History, safety, proper use of equipment, hill etiquette, and ski terminology will be taught," Parker continues, "as well as fundamentals of walking, climbing with skis, falling, and the proper way to get on skis, stopping, turning and use of the rope tow."

I don't know about the walking, the climbing, the turning and stopping, but falling should come fairly easily.

Most of the instruction will be given on the campus but one class session is to be conducted at a ski resort in the region, and that should be of great aid to students who are specializing in falling.

It seems to me that some insurance company should come up with some sort of a policy for skiers, and perhaps this has been done. For example there could be a policy that would pay a whacking good price if one broke a leg while falling off of bed with his skis on. A big pay off could be possible if a person fell while climbing a telephone pole while wearing his skis and broke both arms as well as both legs. If one only broke one

We at Holy Family Villa for the Aged are your neighbors. The location of the home is at 123rd and Will Cook Rd. in Lemont, Ill. The home is operated and is being run by the Sisters of St. Casimir. I may sound bias, but the two and three story home, farm and Father's house is on this spacious acres of land. There are also the stations of the cross outside, for the people who like the outdoors. Father comes every morning for mass. Everyone goes to communion and if not Father goes to them. The smile on their faces when they leave church is a sight for us all.

The home is very much like your own home with your families. It is not only operated by physical means, but means of love, for each and every person in the home. (As a matter of fact, you included them as part of your family.) They seem like Mom or Dad, Aunt or Uncle.

There is physical exercise, occupational therapy, crafts, social and many programs for all these lovely people. It seems that cup of love runned over.

When one of our people pass on, the flag is flown at half mast. There is cooperation throughout the home. It begins from Father, Sister, Sisters and employees, and also the patrons.

The slogan should be "Love Thy Neighbor As Thyself."

New Lenox 17-year-olds die

NEW LENOX — Funeral services were conducted Monday for two teenage victims of a car crash that occurred last Thursday night, (Nov. 16) in front of 343 West Francis Road.

The crash also put a Mokena man, driver of an east-bound car, in Silver Cross Hospital with both legs broken above the knees and head injuries.

Dead are Barry Dailey, 17, of 321 E. 4th St., New Lenox, and Terry L. Smith, 17, of 1206 N. Elm Drive, New Lenox. Both were seniors at Lincoln-Way High School, Dailey having transferred there this year from Providence to take advantage of some shop courses.

Injured and in the intensive care section of Silver Cross Hospital is Stephen Tadey Jr., 29, of Ruth Drive, Mokena. Tadey was east-bound and the driver of the other car was traveling west. According to the report given Coroner Willard G. Blood the cars met practically head-on.

As of Monday, sheriff's deputies investigating the crash apparently had not determined who was the driver of the east bound car. The crash took place about 10 p.m.

Funeral services for Barry Dailey were conducted from the Baskerville Chapel, New Lenox, at 9:30 a.m. to St. Jude church here at 10, with interment in St. Joseph Cemetery at Papineau, Ill.

Besides his mother, Joanne (Yates) Dailey, a registered nurse at Silver Cross Hospital, the boy is survived by three brothers, Steven, Michael and Timothy; his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Yates, and his paternal grandmother, Mrs. Grace Van Dyke. His father Harold L. Dailey, who for many years was Loyalty Day chairman for the VFW at ceremonies conducted at Lincoln-Way High School, was fatally injured in a car crash in 1968.

Funeral services for Terry Smith were held at the Carlson Funeral Home Penton and Youngs Ave., Joliet, at 1 p.m. with the Rev. William Spitzgerber officiating. Interment was in Elmhurst Cemetery, Joliet.

The youth had resided at New Lenox for 16 of his 17 years.

He was a graduate from Oakview Junior High and would have graduated from Lincoln-Way High School next June. He is survived by his parents, Lawrence E. and Gloria Smith; one sister, Leslie and his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Edwards. Mr. Smith is superintendent at the Folger Adam Co. in Joliet, and Mrs. Smith is employed by the Illinois Bell Telephone Co.

Tinley acquires breathalyzer

TINLEY PARK — Tinley Park Police Department this week acquired a breathalyzer unit to be used in the detection of intoxicated drivers.

Since the "implied consent" law regarding drunk driving went into effect on Oct. 1, 1972, Tinley Police have been using the breathalyzer belonging to the Oak Forest Police Department.

Now with its new $1880 unit supplied by the Illinois Department of Public Health, police hope to use the breathalyzer to supply solid evidence against offenders.

Under the law, persons brought into the police station suspected of drunk-driving, who refuse to take the test, are automatically charged with driving while under the influence of alcohol.

The breathalyzer test determines the proportion of alcohol in the blood stream by analyzing the breath a person exhales into a tube connected with the machine. Chemicals sensitive to alcohol in the breathalyzer record the amount of intoxication.

If the amount is .10 percent or higher, considering the person's body weight, he is legally intoxicated and can be charged. If the amount is between .05 and .09 percent, an arrest can still be made if the investigating officer determines the driver is obviously drunk. Prior to the breathalyzer, all arrests for driving while intoxicated were made through visual reconnoiter by the officer.

The breathalyzer test is strictly voluntary on the part of the suspect, but the "implied consent" law has given him the incentive to take the test. If he doesn't, he will be arrested anyway.

Many people have misunderstood this last provision, according to Lt. Dean Utter. Utter also pointed out that the breathalyzer can only be used in cases where the suspected person is driving a vehicle.

The suspect must have been detained by police officers for some other reason other than solely for a breath test.

"You can't pull Joe Blow off the street to take the test," Sgt. Robert Guest, who is the only one qualified in the department to legally operate the machine at the present time, "Only if a person is brought in for a traffic violation can we request that he take the test. We read him his rights, and we ask him if he wishes to take the test." Guest said.

Guest took part in a 40-hour course at the Police Training Institute at Champaign in order to become qualified to conduct tests on the breathalyzer.

"Knuts"

Board amends budget

FRANKFORT — An amended budget of $692,231, was adopted by the Frankfort Grade School board at its regular November meeting. Total expenditures estimated for the coming school year, however, have been set at $708,419, which means the board will have to sell some tax warrants early.

Because of supplemental aid from the state, due to a new formula used in figuring it, and the fact that a new formula for figuring reimbursement for transportation, the district will have about $34,000 in revenue above what it originally expected. Therefore, it was explained, the board had to amend the budget.

At its next meeting, Dec. 11, at 7:30 p.m. in the Frankfort School library, the board will open bids on a transportation contract for the next three years, beginning in September. Warning Charter Service, of Frankfort, now has the contract.

Mrs. Teddy Kearny, who has been working as a teachers aid at Chelsea School on a temporary basis has been hired on a permanent basis. She is a graduate of New Mexico State University.

Long term under study

MOKENA — With continuing growth in Grade School District 159, the Mokena School Board spent considerable time at its recent meeting in discussing means to cope with it.

Emergency housing was discussed. All types of classroom arrangements were reviewed, including the cost of portable classrooms, year-round school, split shifts and new buildings.

"The school district is growing," Supt. James Ennis pointed out, "and classroom shortages are making it difficult to offer good, sound educational programs."

In relation to this discussion the board authorized released time once a month to a steering committee of teachers to study the implementation of the year-round school.

A new bidding procedure was adopted. Items to be bid include administrative and instructional equipment, custodial equipment and supplies, lunchroom bread and milk, gasoline and small service items for district vehicles. Bids are to be taken on gasoline immediately.

A letter was read from mayor Will Tuttle stating that the village will furnish a sewer line at the corner of 195th Street at 114th Ave., whenever the school district needs it.

A review of revenues revealed that $24,500 is now invested. This sum accrued from the sale of a classroom to the Lincoln-Way Area Special Education program, and most recently from donations from developers.

The board hired Mr. Ludmilla Slusarski to serve Willowcrest Primary School as a custodial matron.

Also hired was Mrs. Romona Searth to teach fifth grade on a part-time basis for the balance of the year. Mrs. Searth has had previous teaching experience in Park Forest and Minnesota. She was hired to help in the instruction of language arts lowering the pupil-teacher ratio to better meet the needs of students.

Map being prepared for mutual aid area

NEW LENOX — Walter Faulk of the New Lenox Fire Department reported at the Desplains Valley Firemen's Mutual Aid Association meeting last week that a detailed map of the association's entire area will soon be completed. The map, which will define all boundary lines clearly, also will show the territory that each community fire department of the twenty-member association must protect.

"Presently," Fireman Faulk said, "there seems to be some confusion as to which fire department is responsible for particular housing developments and some rural areas." A map outlining each district and its duties would be the logical solution, he added.

Copies of the completed map will be distributed to offices of the Illinois Bell Telephone Company, and to governmental agencies, including fire and police departments.

Also at the November 16 meeting, association president Donald Lorenz of the Frankfort Volunteer Fire Department expressed a holiday greeting to all. Additionally, he cautioned residents to be especially alert to the changing weather and hazardous driving conditions with the coming winter season. "A serious highway accident is definitely not the way to meet members of your local fire department," he said.

Gall Lane finally found

NEW LENOX — Lost for years, as far as mail carriers and deliverymen are concerned, and a puzzle to friends from outside the village who may be looking them up for the first time, residents of Gall Lane are about to get a new street name and mail service.

Nelson L. Fenn, Sr., who has lived on the street for 14 of the 17 years it has been in existence, appeared before the village board last Wednesday night as spokesman for the residents.

He explained that the residents - there are seven now and another house is going up - who have been maintaining the street since it has been in existence would like respite from this chore and would dedicate the lane to the village.

The street is 33 feet wide which is ample for the traffic but there has been no "turnaround" so the postoffice will not put a carrier on the street.

Gall Lane, according to Fenn, runs between Wood and Hawthorne streets, but for some reason is usually referred to as North Cedar Road, despite the fact that the lane runs east and west. With the Wajehert Subdivision opening on Cooper Street, the people on Gall Lane will be able to have a "turnoff" or a "turnaround," and so will have mail service. They also are in line for a new name, "Birch Lane."

The village board referred the matter to the Plan Commission but no difficulties are anticipated there, it was reported. Now if people just quit calling the lane North Cedar Road everything will be fine.

A plug for easier starting in colder weather.

Remember the mornings last winter when you turned the ignition key and nothing happened? If your neighbor wasn't around to help, you might have waited and waited for the service station truck. This year you can save time and money with an easy-to-use electric starting aid.

There are several types to choose from, and all run on regular house current. Simply plug one in at bedtime, and your car's off to a quicker start in the morning. One combination—a tank-type preheater and trickle charger—can have the effect of a heated garage for your engine and battery. The tank-type unit fits outside your engine and heats and circulates the coolant.

The trickle charger both warms your battery and keeps it at full charge.

Another kind—a freeze-plug engine heater—replaces the freeze plug in the engine block. If you're buying a new car, your dealer may offer this as an option.

There are several other kinds of effective electric starting aids, too. Your auto service station or supply store can tell you which devices are best suited for your car.

A THOUGHT TO REMEMBER BY BOB HIRSCH

ONCE UPON A TIME... some Pilgrims sailed from England on the Mayflower. They landed in America to build new homes in an untamed wilderness. They started a new life in strange and frightening circumstances. They suffered devastating privations. After a winter of virtual starvation, they reaped a good harvest. They were thankful. At autumn time they set a day aside for feasting — and — thanksgiving.

Time went on. Generations of Americans have since feasted on Thanksgiving — and most of them, presumably — likewise gave thanks to a merciful God not only for food but for many other blessings as well. Blessings found only in America; nowhere else.

In our time, most of us still feast heartily on Thanksgiving. But... we wonder how much meekness and humility is actually felt on that day? We wonder how many really yearn to thank God; whether that yearning to express thanks is as strong as the yearning for increased blessings and benefits? We wonder, too, how many of us deserve His continued, plentiful blessings? Yes, we wonder. Do you?

They talk on, and on

By Susan K. Fine

There is an old saying which goes, "A fool and his money are soon parted." Today there's a new saying, "The wise salesman can separate the two easily."

Salesmen in the Park Forest area employ a variety of tactics to make fools of the unwary. Some use the telephone. Some go about knocking on doors. Others, the most devious have a party.

Telephone solicitors are psychic. They call when their victim is taking a shower, changing the baby, or fixing lunch for the children.

Willpower is low when famished kids are beating their silverware against their plates and shouting, "Rub a dub dub. Mom bring us some grub."

Typical was a carpet salesman who phoned one afternoon. He wanted to show the owner of the house some samples. Nothing discouraged him. Worn out by the spiel, the housewife finally said he could bring his wares over that evening. "Where is your husband?" he demanded upon his arrival. "Taking a nap," was the reply. "Well I won't come in. Not unless your husband is going to look at my samples too. I came to sell carpets, not to sit around talking." "I am fully capable of buying carpeting on my own," he was told. "I can see that. Your living room rug is obviously an inferior piece of merchandise. I don't think you are going to buy anything from me. Not unless your husband is with you. I'm leaving."

Was it a ploy? Should one show her good taste and wifely independence by purchasing one of his carpets on the spot? But he and his samples vanished leaving only a bad impression of arrogant salesmen.

The door-to-door salesmen can be equally insulting. Last weekend an attractive young woman appeared at the door.

"May I come in?" she asked, peering through the glass. Before we could answer, she had opened the door and was in.

"Mr. Fine, are you interested in young people?" she asked.

"Yes," he replied.

"Do you think jobs can keep young people off the streets? Keep them from committing acts of vandalism and hurting innocent people like yourselves?"

He nodded agreeably.

"Then you will want to purchase a subscription to one of the magazines I am selling."

"What sort of magazines are you selling?" he asked.

Suburban Living

Especially for the Family

Selected for band

OAK FOREST — Janette Lundberg of Oak Forest, was among 14 students from Hillcrest High School's band and choral groups who were selected by the Illinois Music Educators Association to participate in the District I Concert.

The festival was held Nov. 11 at Thornton High School while similar festivals were held in six other locations around the state.

Miss Lundberg choral group member, is also now in competition for a place on the All-State chorus and band.

"All sorts. Life, Sports Illustrated, Better Homes and Gardens—"

My husband cut her off. "We already subscribe to Life and we aren't interested in the others. I really don't see what those magazines have to do with keeping youth off the streets."

Undaunted, she continued, "My company employs people from all over the United States to sell these magazines. All of us come from minority groups. I don't want you to buy a subscription for yourself, Mr. Fine. I want you to buy one for us, the youth of America who would otherwise not have a job."

They argued for an hour before she left. She called him a bigot and a hater of youth. He told her she was committing a crime on the street because it is illegal for door-to-door salesmen to solicit without a solicitor's badge.

Her parting words were, "If someone beats you up because they didn't have anything better to do, it's your own fault."

Then there are the sales parties. They begin with an invitation received in the mail. A friend or neighbor is having a party. You must attend or she might not ever speak to you again.

Attending one of these parties is like being in the midst of a commercial. There was one in June where everyone was given a piece of merchandise. The saleslady told us to tell everyone in the group why we loved her line of housewares.

If we had been honest, we would have said things like, "I love Burpware pie pans because my youngster gets a big kick teething on them," or "I didn't want to come to this party, but the hostess came to my Coveted Jewelry party last week."

No one is honest, at that moment. When the saleslady asked me why I liked Burpware measuring cups better than any other, I could not think of one reason.

She tried to help. "I know why you love our cups. It's because all Burpware is guaranteed for life. For life, ladies, and you can't beat that."

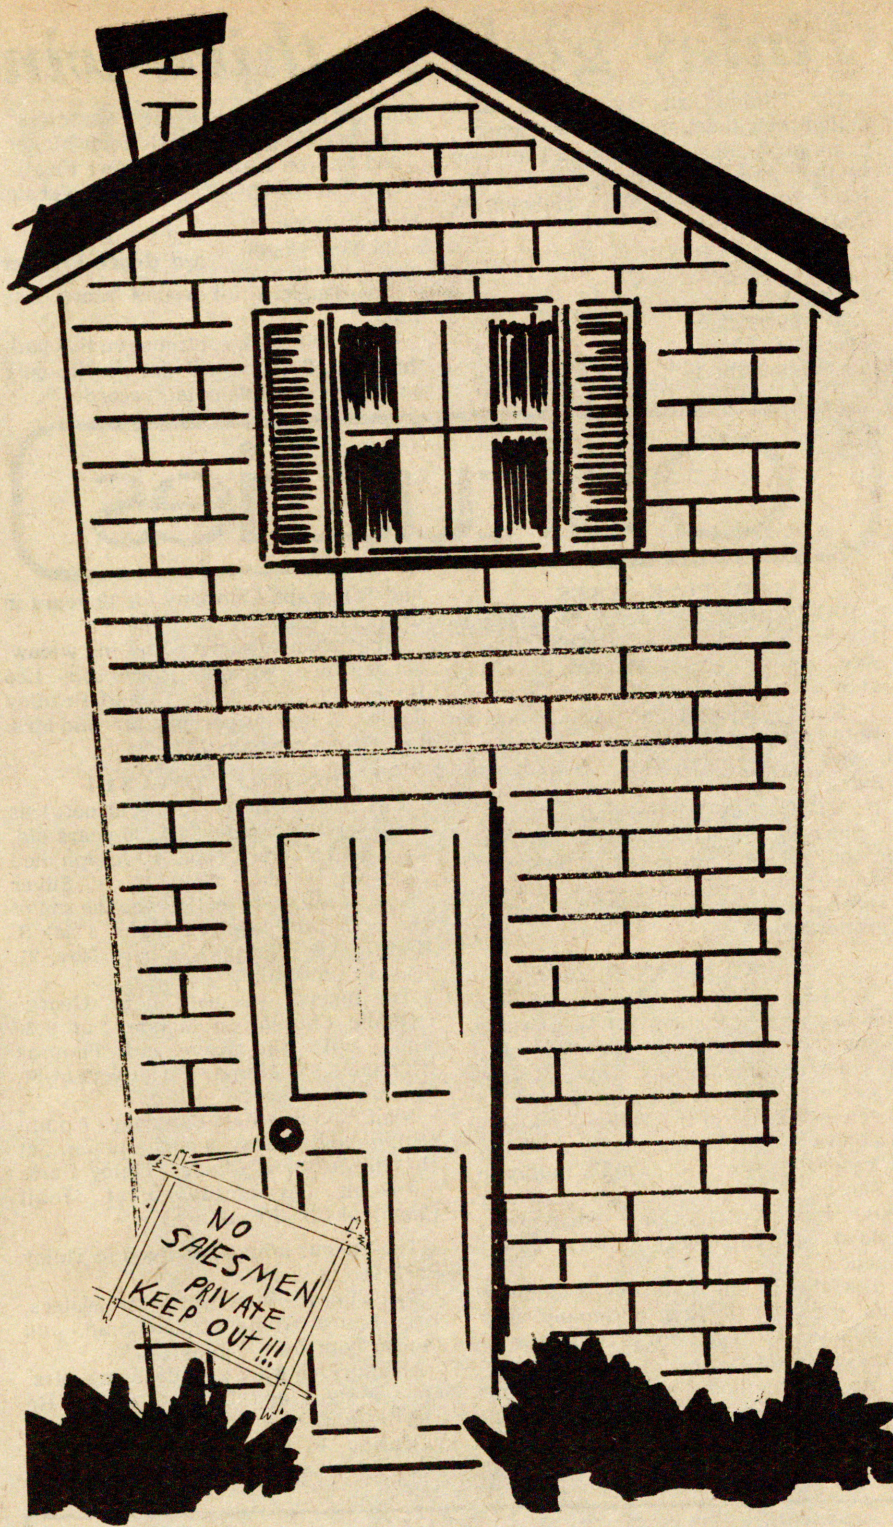

The ladies shook their heads, mumbling, "Isn't that wonderful?"

"What if you are using Burpware cups to measure flour and you leave the cup in your canister and while you are mixing cake batter, the batter flies off the beater into the canister so you have to throw the flour out and you don't see the measuring cup fall into the wastebasket?" I asked.

"I think it is time to play games, Ladies," the saleslady said. "I want everyone to imitate the sound of their favorite barnyard animal."

Twenty respectable homemakers oinked, clucked and mooed.

A Burpware prize is nearly as bad as a Burpware game. The winner has to guess what his prize can be used for. It is usually a piece of plastic with holes in it (for holding brooms) or a strip of thin foam rubber with staples at both ends (for hanging sweaters).

A hard salespitch follows the games.

There are two kinds of salesladies. One is enthusiastic. As she describes in detail the merits of Stigley bowl cleaner, she giggles with delight. "Now aren't we having fun, Ladies?"

The other saleswoman is the exact opposite. All business, if she catches anyone doodling on her checkbook or talking about anything other than her Coveted Jewelry, she stops her sales talk and says, "I think you are terribly rude. I am trying to tell you something."

A sales party has one redeeming feature. It is a good means of revenge. After one has attended enough parties, she can have a party of her own and invite all the women whose parties she attended.

Even the children of Park Forest are becoming mercenary. Yesterday, three pre-schoolers pounded on the back door until I went to see what they wanted.

"What can I do for you today?"

"Give us 2 cents apiece," they said.

"Why should I give you 2 cents?"

"So we will go away and not knock on the door any more. Mom always gives money to people who knock on our door. She says it's the only way to get rid of them."

I gave each child two cents. It was the only bargain I've ever received from a solicitor.

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM C. BETTENHAUSEN

Children honor parents upon 25th anniversary

Frankfort — Mr. and Mrs. William C. Bettenhausen will be honored at a family dinner for their 25th wedding anniversary. The dinner will be given by their four children: Edward, Kenneth, Betsy and Kathy at the Green Garden

United Methodist Church on Sunday, Nov. 26. Mrs. Bettenhausen is the former Elizabeth Deuchler. The couple were married on Nov. 29, 1947 at the New England Congregational Church, Aurora, Ill.

Bozo has extra lesson

Children and their mothers and even some fathers and grandparents waited close to each other in line to get in to the WGN television studio.

Some of them had written for tickets four years ago. Others, with connections, had had their tickets for a mere two weeks. The wait was long and some of the smaller youngsters laid on the floor or picked fights with their siblings. Mothers looked on and sometimes ignored the little ones — and sometimes threatening them.

Then, finally, the studio door was opened and two by two the people who had been waiting in line filed into the studio. They obediently followed the instructions of the young ushers and usherettes who told them to pack their bodies into the backless bleachers.

After everyone was seated, an enthusiastic young man came out and told the audience how to behave when the television show finally went on the air. Noon arrived. Mr. Ned called out for everyone in all the land to hear, "Bozo's Circus is on the air."

Bozo's Circus is an institution in many, many homes in Chicagoland. Bozo and Sandy, his sidekick are clowns. Mr. Ned is the show's ringmaster, and Mr. Bob, in a Music Man-type band uniform, is the bandleader.

As the first musical number with Bozo and Sandy was taking place, a little girl said to her mother, "This place is much smaller than the one where the real Bozo on TV is." The music ended and a commercial flashed on the television monitors all over the studio. As if in response to the little girl's statement, Mr. Ned told the studio audience that everyone visiting the show for the first time is always amazed at how much smaller the actual studio was than it appeared to be on television. The audience nodded in understanding.

It was fascinating to watch the workings of a television show. There were no illusions — for the children or their parents.

As one of the clowns came near, the children became excited. Their eyes glistened. Some would call out, "Hi Sandy," "Hi Bozo," "Hi Mr. Ned," hoping to get a personal response from a television "star." Others would sit and wait, hopeful that they would be noticed and singled out for a kind word.

The performers exchanged jokes that were corny and as old as the hills — but they were genuinely nice to the children and their parents.

Sometimes the cameras panned the studio audience and people watched, hoping to catch a glimpse of themselves on the monitor, so they would know the folks at home had been rewarded by seeing them in their television debuts.

When the clowns were performing for both the studio and television audience, the technicians and cameramen and director — all men — chortled loudly at the corny jokes that they must have heard hundreds of times.

A man, probably in his 50's — came out to do a balancing act with canes and dumbbells. He performed upside down and right side up and on one hand or one leg and on his head. Everytime one of his tricks was culminated, his assistant — a lady in a long white dress with long black gloves — would hold out one of her gloved hands and delicately point a finger to indicate that the trick had been completed. It was time for the audience to applaud.

The clowns came back. They showered each other with confetti or sprayed shaving cream at each other. The only thing they missed was the old "pie in the face" routine.

During all the hilarity, children were constantly changing their seats to get what they hoped would be a better view of the show. Several mothers with tall hairdos, making it impossible for anyone in back of them to see.

It was close to 1:00 p.m., and Bozo, followed by the cast, followed by the audience in twos, led what is called the Grand March, out of the studio.

The clowns and Mr. Ned waited at the door for all to see and touch. They shook hands and had a kind word for everyone. Bozo said to one twelve year old, "Hey, are you going to go without even saying goodbye, Miss Beautiful?" The formerly aloof young lady shyly said goodbye. She felt pleased that a television star had found her to be attractive.

On the way out everyone was given ice cream bars and confections — and they were absolutely free.

The magic of TV is over for many, both young and old who see a television show in a studio — but, at least, some pleasant memories remain.

Garnishment needs hearing

The Cook County Circuit Court has changed its tactics concerning garnishment.

From now on, a court hearing involving both debtor and creditor must pre ede court orders to banks to garnish or freeze accounts of delinquent installment buyers.

In the past, bank accounts have felt the impact of garnishment before the owners of those accounts knew what was happening.

Singin' 'oldies' enlivens group

ORLAND PARK — "It was a very visit-y crowd," at the Gas Lite Party held Nov. 4, according to chairlady Mrs. Colette Dupont. This was the fourth annual party held for people in the area at St. Michael Church.

Held in the church auditorium, festooned in red and white canopies, balloons and checkered tablecloths, admission to the party is held low enough so everybody can come. Over 450 people jammed the room many wearing straw hats or garters and singing the evening away to the oldies played by the Red Garter Band.

Mr. and Mrs. Dupont who organized the party along with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Butler described the evening as "so congenial". "The band played until 1:30 and even then the people didn't want to leave!" said the Duponts.

Grand prize winner of the evening of a trip for two to Las Vegas was Mrs. Pat Peterson, a sister of Mrs. Jane Garvin of Laguna Woods.

The students have also participated in the on-going nursery school program for pre-schoolers at Sandburg.

Employers who would be interested in hiring the experienced, qualified students as baby sitters or mother's helpers should call Donald Horn, vocation director at Sandburg, 361-1400, to make arrangements.

A sliding scale has been worked out, with additional charges for additional chores. The baby sitting fee is $1 per hour.

Couples bridge marriage gap

PALOS PARK — "Love is Cool — Marriage is Hot!" Marriage and family living is perhaps the most crucial problem facing each of us today. Young couples facing the hazards and myths of marriage, stumbling in the gaps of the accelerating marriage-go-around; older couples confronting the "spouse gap" when wedlocks becomes deadlock. What is the way out? How can couples bridge the gaps, assault the numbness and boredom, and develop intimacy in their relationships.

The Community Center Foundation, 12700 Southwest Highway, will host a "Marital Encounter" Dec. 1, 2, and 3 — when couples will confront the block-and hindrances to creative marriage and seek to develop ways to wake up their marriage.

All marriages need a periodic marriage check-up (as with cars) and write prescriptions (preventive or restorative) for a healthy (intimate and creative) marriage.

The leadership includes experienced persons under the leadership of Dr. Jack Van Liew, marriage counselor at the Foundation.

The retreat begins at 7:30 p.m. Friday and continues to 4 p.m. on Sunday, at the modern retreat facilities at the Foundation. Further information may be obtained by calling 448-0780.

Sandbox opens pre-school room in Orland Park

ORLAND PARK — The doors of The Sandbox Pre-School opened at 94th Avenue and 147th Street, Christ Lutheran Church, Nov. 15. The Sandbox specializes in early childhood development in areas of creativity, sociability and academic awareness and readiness.

The first special event for the new school will be a visit from Chief White Eagle, of TV fame, who will teach the children Indian sign language, a few war whoops, some Indian folk lore and dances. The Chief's visit is in conjunction with the cowboy and indian unit at the Sandbox. The children have been making indian jewelry out of hand painted noodles, along with teepees, canoes and learning the songs and ways of the early west. The children also had pony rides and a chuck wagon cook-out to gain real experience in the unit.

Jim Purcell may have a difficult time explaining his "black eye" to his parents, Dr. and Mrs. Brian Purcell. However, it's all in a day's work at the new Sandbox Pre-School, Orland Park.

Sandburg's 'matchmaker' gives viewers pleasure

BY LEE PNAZEK

ORLAND PARK — "The Matchmaker," as presented by Carl Sandburg High School students Nov. 2, 3, and 4, was a pleasure to view and a joy to hear. It had a plot, a beginning, a middle and an end, as opposed to the more avant garde theatre productions.

As written by Thornton Wilder, the play describes the efforts of several young couples to discover themselves and to make romantic attachments without the overbearing threats of more mature, level-headed minds.

Especially noteworthy in their parts were Charles Meyerson as Horace Vandergelder and Keelin Wyman as Barnaby Tucker. Of course both young men have had previous experience in other school productions and experience does show. Both are members of the International Thespian Society.

Credit should be given to Brian Vandenberg, the faculty director for his direction and clever use of sets to show off the play to its best advantage. The entrance of the students from a trap door on stage was innovative and effective, especially when Barnaby was trying to slip away from the threats of Vandergelder. He slid so slowly through the trap door that one would think that the play was written complete with such a device. One can sink ever so much better through a trap door than one can through a horizontal door. Also, psychologically speaking, the use of a trap door more cleverly indicates the total submission of the clerks to their boss.

The three-fourths thrust stage allowed for a clear view from almost every seat in the Commons, and gave the production a sense of immediacy. The acoustics and the projection of the cast were excellent. From my particular seat I never had to strain to hear.

In every play, someone usually overacts, and I can remember when I accused Meyerson of overacting. However, in the particular part, he had excellent control. The scenes of the drunks, while probably a delight to the young men involved, was a bit overdrawn.

Mrs. Molly, as portrayed by Sue Pokras, was a good characterization of a many-faceted individual. Jeanne Smetana, as Miss Flora Van Huysen, was superbly flighty. Her stage entrance of stepping over the bodies of the two prone actors was so well done that one would think that she imperiously stepped over bodies every day of the week.

As usual Mark Hillig turned in an excellent performance. Patricia Shields was really challenged with the difficult role of Mrs. Levi.

Tennie Boppers, Carey Bickham, Jann Bragg, Kim Carpenter, Debbie Snorky Norkiewicz and Nancy Thomas were a delight in the 4A Mini-Course Play Production.

Student director of the "Matchmaker" was Asta Bowen and the stage crew included Wayne Bozenda, Vern Piper, Sandie Nagel, Jan DeCosmo and Mike Casey. Lighting was done by Tom Seits; properties by Jan DeCosmo and Sandie Nagel and make-up by Caron Jancik, Jan Parlier, Carrie Knott, Karen Schultz, Lynn Thomas and Cordy Ives.

The Chicago skyline provided the backdrop Saturday as the St. Michael Wildcats won a city championship victory over St. Edwards, 41-13. The event took place in Chicago's famous Grant Park, with the mini grid stars guarded on one side by Michigan Avenue and on the other by Lake Michigan.

St. Michaels scores championship win

ORLAND PARK — The Saint Michael Wildcats played for the city CYO football championship Saturday and won it going away, beating St. Edwards 41-13. The game was played at Grant Park in front of an icy Lake Michigan.

The Wildcats once again broke away halfback Tim Lyons for two touchdowns and over 100 yards rushing for the day. Tim Roth and sure blocking Mike Halper also scored a touchdown each for the Wildcats in rather an easy game.

Coach Bob Price was also surprised about how easy a game the Wildcats had and thinks his Wildcats "can beat any CYO team in the county." Coach Price said Mike Revord played his usual game on defense with Grant Webster also turning in a top performance on defense for the Wildcats.

The Wildcats, with no games left to play, and only a outside chance of playing teams out of state because of money and travel arrangements posted a 15-0 record counting practice games for the season.

Coach Price just could not say enough about every boy on the team and how every one of them in their own way contributed toward their undefeated season. Asking Coach Price why his team beat St. Edwards so soundly in what was supposed to be a tough game Price said "we just had a good day like 14 other good days this year."

The Saint Michael Wildcat banquet will be held at Silver Lake Country Club Sunday, Dec. 3, beginning at 6 p.m.

Cage tourneys set Thanksgiving week

SOUTHWEST — A variety of basketball tournaments have been set for the Thanksgiving weekend.

In the varsity competition, Friday's schedule has Tinley Park facing Yorkville at 6:30 p.m. Friday and Stagg against Plainfield at 8 p.m. Friday.

Saturday's competition has Tinley Park vs. Plainfield at 1:15 p.m.; Stagg vs. Yorkville at 2:45 p.m.; Stagg vs. Tinley Park at 6:30 p.m. and Yorkville vs. Plainfield at 8 p.m.

Watching prep sports

Gridiron takes rest as cage takes over

By JOHN OSTENBURG
Sports Editor

While snow begins to take over area prep football fields, the sports viewer's attention is being focused on the hardwood for an exciting cage season.

Most prep teams are preparing to open their seasons with performances at various Thanksgiving basketball tournaments scheduled for the Chicagoland area this weekend.

As was the case with the gridiron competition of a few weeks ago, Crescent Sports will provide game-by-game coverage of high school action occurring within our readership area.

This means, basically, the keeping of a watchful eye on twelve high schools—not always an easy task.

In the greater Park Forest area, four teams vie for the Crescent sports-writer's attention; three of these teams compete on the varsity level while the fourth is restricted to sophomore status because of the infancy of the school. On the varsity roster are the Crete-Monee High School Warriors, the Rich Central High School Olympians and the Rich East High School Rockets. On the prep minor league scorechart is the youthful Rich South High School Star squad.

At the center of the Crescent Sports area is a quintet of schools which also includes a sophomore team. These are the Tinley Park High School Titans, the Sandburg High School Eagles and the Lincoln-Way High School Knights on the public school varsity roster; the Providence High School Celtics in the private school varsity listings; and the Oak Forest High School Bengals at the sophomore level.

In the Southwest area, competition centers on the Lockport High School Porters, the Lemont High School Injuns and the Romeoville High School Spartans. Because of its wide enrollment, Providence also demands a degree of our Southwest coverage.

Obviously, the task of comprehensive reporting of sports activities by so many teams demands careful coverage of all events taking place at the respective schools. As the cage season begins, Crescent Sports is making a concerted effort to enlist the assistance of more sports-writers to assist in the accomplishing of this task.

Hopefully, we will also soon establish a sports line by means of which sports participants and fans will be able to call in the tally on events which we would not otherwise be in a position to handle.

Our pledge, then, is for even greater sports coverage throughout the advancing seasons.

As we watched the prep football teams in competition these past two months, it became increasingly obvious that two excelled far beyond the others.

Only the Tinley Park Titans managed to finish the season complete on wins and losses. The Titans had a 9-0 record for the season, with a 7-0 record for competition in the Southeast Suburban Conference. The Tinley squad ranked first in the SES, on mark up from its 1971 season second place status.

While likewise topping its league, the Lemont High School grid team was not as successful on the scorecard. The Injuns completed the season with a 7-1 record, and with a 6-1 status in the Northwest Conference.

The Porters of Lockport High School also posted an excellent season, coming in second in the Illini-8 conference. The Porters lost only their first game (a non-conference match with Hillcrest), and their last event (the Illini-8 title-bout with Joliet Catholic).

Unfortunately circumstances, however, have forced the Porters to relinquish all their 1972 wins. Unknowingly, senior Larry Spinks was allowed to participate in Lockport sports activity while not meeting eligibility requirements of the Illinois High School Association (IHSA).

IHSA rules demand that prep sports participants carry a minimum of 15 units of course work; Spinks carried only 10 units.

When the basketball season officially opens next week, area teams will be participating in a total of five conferences.

Three area teams participate in the Southeast Suburban Conference. These include the Crete-Monee Warriors, the Rich Central Olympians and the Tinley Park Titans.

Participating in the Southwest Suburban Conference are the Rich East Rockets, the Sandburg Eagles and the Lincoln-Way Knights.

The Lockport Porters and the Romeoville Spartans are both participants in the Illini-8 Conference.

The Lemont Injuns are singular among area teams as participants in the Northeast Conference. The same is true for the Providence Celtics who participate in the Private School League.

Neither sophomore level team, the Rich South Stars or the Oak Forest Bengals, is involved in conference competition at this point.

Now for turkey and tournaments, Thursday and thereafter.

Coach Gillberg optimistic

ORLAND PARK — Coach Alan Gillberg, swim coach at Carl Sandburg High School is very optimistic about his team this year.

Coach Gillberg says, this year's varsity swimming squad is a young, hard working group with only five senior lettermen returning. Those seniors who are returning from last year's conference championship team are Jeff King, Erick Nelson, Don Tanis and divers Jim Mantell and Ray Zabelski.

Coach Gillberg then commented, The real strength of this year's varsity team will come from junior's Jim Adams, Mark Douglas, Paul Jessen, Vince Martin, Gary Stephens, Bill Stone and Paul Wysocki. Sophomores Allen Gillberg and Dave Proskin now working out with the varsity are future hopefuls.

The tankmen open their season last Friday with their annual Blue Gold Intersquad meet. On Saturday, Nov. 25, they will take on Thornton in their home opener.

ORLAND PARK — The Carl Sandburg girl's gymnastics team soundly defeated Hillcrest in first meet of the year. Hillcrest lost in all four events.

Unlike group competitions, the events were judged one at a time. The four events were the horse, balance beam, uneven parallels and a free exercise routine.

Coach Joan Vande Velde said, "I wasn't too optimistic at first, but now the girls have improved far more than I had hoped." Coach Vande Velde also commented, "This is the first girls' gymnastic team ever at Sandburg and it's probably here to stay judging from the great team spirit."

Members of the team are freshman Rene Choisser, Betsy Hamrick, Mary Quirk, Barrie Burkman, Connie Bartlett, Linda Kettman, and juniors Renae and Nuala McDonnell.

CHICAGO — More than 3,500 of North America's finest cattle, hogs and sheep have descended on Chicago this week for the 73rd annual International Live Stock Exposition at the Amphitheater. The show opens Nov. 23 and ends Nov. 28. Historically it has been the world series of livestock events.

A total of 1,511 cattle entries lead the totals. They include more than 350 Herefords, 300 Angus, 200 Shorthorns, as well as more than 100 Charolais. Highlights of the cattle judging include the judging of the Grand Champion Steer of the show on Monday, Nov. 27. There will be continuous judging of the breeding beef cattle on Nov. 26, 27 and 28.

A total of 1,483 sheep have been entered in this year's International, making it one of the largest sheep shows in history. The American Hampshire Association has designated the International as its official national show. A total of 232 Hampshires have been entered. Also there will be more than 500 head of the sleek, well-muscled barrows in the swine competition.

Featured entertainment for the International will be the RCA World's Championship Rodeo. More than 300 of the nation's top cowboys will compete in bareback riding, saddle bronc riding, calf roping, bulldogging and Brahma bull riding events. Top cowgirls will compete in barrel racing for the eight performances which start Thanksgiving night, with evening performances each night and matinees on Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 25 and 26.

Also with the rodeo performances Nov. 23, 24 and 25 will be Lynn Anderson, country and western music recording star, and Rick Nelson, another of the performing and recording stars, will be on hand Nov. 26, 27 and 28.

TINLEY PARK — Two Tinley Park sophomores, John Becker and David May, merited placed on the B honor roll for the first marking period at Joliet Catholic High School.

John is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Mathias Becker, 17111 S. 69th Ave., and David is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward May, 17920 S. Sayre Ave.

MOKENA — Joe Rodriguez, varsity football coach at Lincoln-Way High School and former mentor for L-W cross country teams which won many conference, district and state honors, got a thrill last weekend when he received a telephone call from Hillside, N.J.

The call was from his mother and was to the effect that his 17-year-old brother John Rosas, a senior at Hillside High, is the new state cross country champion of New Jersey.

He won the event last Saturday, covering the 2 1/2-mile distance in 12:22, beating out the boy who had held the championship for the past two years.

Rosas got his start running three years ago and his mother has been a big factor in keeping him at it. "He has a good coach at school," Rodriguez said, "and I am certainly happy for the kid."

VILLAGE OF WESTHAVEN PUBLIC NOTICE OF ZONING HEARING

A public hearing will be held by a special Zoning Amendment Committee consisting of the Chairman of the following standing committees of the Board of Trustees of the Village of Westhaven: Police and Fire, Ordinance and Resolutions, and Permits and Licenses, on the 11th day of December, 1972, at 8:30 a.m., at the Village Hall, 16801 94th Avenue, Westhaven, Illinois, for the purpose of considering the zoning classification of certain property proposed to be rezoned and developed under the new Planned Unit Development provisions of the Village of Westhaven.

The territory proposed to be rezoned and developed as a Planned Unit Development consists of approximately 79.263 acres located in the Village of Westhaven, Cook County, Illinois, and in general is bounded by 159th Street on the north, 88th Street on the east, 163rd Street on the south, and Haven Avenue on the west, and is legally described as:

The South half (S 1/2) of the West Half (W 1/2) of the North East Quarter (NE 1/4) and the East Half (E 1/2) of the North East Quarter (NE 1/4) of Section 22, Township 36 North, Range 12, East of the Third Principal Meridian in Cook County, Illinois (Except that part taken for public highways and the East 300.00 Feet of the West 580.00 Feet of the North 800.00 Feet of the East Half (E 1/2) of the North East Quarter (NE 1/4) of Section 22, Township 36 North, Range 12, East of the Third Principal Meridian (Except that part dedicated for road right-of-way on 159th Street) in Cook County, Illinois, and containing 5.155 Acres more or less; and except Lots 1 thru 55 in Block 1, Lots 1 thru 31 in Block 2, Lots 1 thru 15 in Block 3, Lots 1 thru 34 in Block 4, and Lots 1 thru 58 in Block 5, in Westhaven North Subdivision, a Subdivision in the East Half (E 1/2) of the North East (NE) Quarter (1/4) and in the South Half (S 1/2) of the West Half (W 1/2) of the North East Quarter (NE 1/4) of Section 22, Township 36 North, Range 12, East of the Third Principal Meridian in Cook County, Illinois.)

The developer proposes that under the Planned Unit Development, the northerly 13.07 acres of the development shall be developed into a local shopping area. The balance of the Planned Unit Development is proposed to be developed with approximately 45 to 47 multi-family buildings, containing approximately 1,080 to 1,128 dwelling units.

The Planned Unit Development further provides for the dedication of approximately 3. acres of land to the Village, or, in lieu thereof, the payment of equivalent cash value to the Village.

The total concept of the Plan is based upon a courtyard plan for apartment living, with an overall density for the multi-family area of approximately 16.3 units per acre, open space and green area, recreational facilities within the open space, including lawn area, pathways for bicycling, swimming pools, tennis courts, and a community building.

All persons present at the hearing shall be given an opportunity to be heard.

By order of the corporate authorities of the Village of Westhaven, Illinois.

Dated this 18th day of November, 1972.

News Briefs

MOKENA — Mayor Will Tuttle is looking for a volunteer who will head a blood center for Mokena, working through Silver Cross and St. Joseph hospitals.

There is always a need for blood at the hospitals and an endeavor is being made to maintain the banks there, as well as in other hospitals, through donations by healthy volunteers.

The local center would serve as a clearing house for volunteer donors from the area. Once a director is named plans for the operation of the center can be formulated and publicized, it was said.

ARBURY HILLS — The Arbury Hills Teen Committee, with the cooperation of the Arbury Hills Civic Association, is staging a basketball marathon this week in the school gym.

It begins today (Nov. 22) and runs through Nov. 26, with teens from the entire Mokena, Frankfort, New Lenox participating. According to the billing it will be the Mad Marathoners vs. the Harlem Rejects.

The affair begins at 3:30 this afternoon and ends at 8:30 Sunday night.

Tickets for a single game are 25 cents for students and 50 cents for adults, or $1 for a family. The big economic family size ticket is $2 and is good for the entire contest, which is to say a family comes and goes as it pleases. If a student wants a ticket that is good for all the games the price is 75 cents; the "season" ticket for an adult is $1.

According to Jeff Cronen, who is head of the Teen Club, half of the proceeds from the marathon will be used to buy Christmas presents for children at Silver Cross and St. Joseph hospitals in Joliet and St. James Hospital at Chicago Heights. The other half will go to the Teen Club for its programs.

For the past week representatives of the teen group have been calling at homes, selling tickets, and seeking volunteers as basketball players, scorekeepers, referees, timekeepers, ticket takers and kitchen help.

FRANKFORT — All civic organizations in Frankfort have been invited to attend a meeting in the village hall at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 28, to discuss uses for the new municipal building that formerly housed an automobile agency and garage at the southwest corner of Kansas and Hickory Streets.

The announcement was made by Burton Breident, business administrator of the village for Trustee Richard Trevartham, head of public property.

The organizations will be queried as to whether they want a meeting place, how many will be needed and the type—such as for large meetings or those called by committees. The village wants to draft plans for the use of the new municipal building and is asking the cooperation of the various groups within the community to help.

NEW LENOX — The seventh annual Thanksgiving service, around a log fire, will be held by the United Methodist Church here Thursday morning at 10:30 on the former New Lenox Camp Meeting grounds.

Those attending are reminded to dress according to the weather and those who desire may remain in their cars that can be parked nearby.

This nature setting for the service of Thanksgiving hymns and psalms helps to recall the tradition of the Pilgrims. A guitar accompaniment for the singing will be provided by David Schofield and Jeff Nelson.

The Rev. Herbert George, pastor of the New Lenox church, will present the Thanksgiving meditation.

How many more such Thanksgiving services will be held is problematical. The site is to be the future location of the new United Methodist Church. Plans for its construction are now under consideration.

MOKENA — Anthony Dina Sr., president of the Mokena Chamber of Commerce will also serve as its chef, maitre d'hotel, and host at its luncheon meeting in the village hall at 12 noon Dec. 4.

Dina has not disclosed the menu but says he is sure it will please. At the Dec. 4 meeting the nominating committee will present a list of candidates for the posts of president, vice president, secretary, and treasurer. Members of the nominating committee are Peter Greendyken, Dave Pelley and Fred Rauch.

A committee has also been named to select the two outstanding citizens who will be honored next year.

Local News Briefs

Prestwick

Michael J. Flynn
815-469-5617

Our very best wishes to all for a happy and plentiful Thanksgiving holiday. With the snow on the ground, we hope, it will look like the old fashioned celebration we are used to seeing.

Our condolences to Margaret Damm on the recent death of her father.

The annual Italian Night Dinners were held last week-end and were the usual success. Attendance was excellent and the food was superb. Congratulations to Jim and his family.

The only people in Prestwick who did not suffer with the weather were Cliff and Sherri Davis of Pheasant Trail, Henry and Ann Olivieri of Hawthorne Drive and Bob and Alice Hraha of Pheasant Trail. The day before the big rain and cold spell hit they took off to Florida in the Davis jet for some golf and relaxation. Temperatures were in the 80's all the time and the "wish you were here" cards are still arriving.

The Sports and Pastimes Committee has elected its new officers for the forthcoming season. They are: Stephen Krasula of Chicago is the president; Robert L. Anderson, of Matteson, vice-president; Roy Herzog, Dolton, treasurer; and Michael Strilich, Pheasant Trail, secretary. A "job well done" goes to Ray Duesing, Dolton, who is the outgoing president.

Frankfort Square

By KAREN HAAVE
815-469-3337

Mr. and Mrs. Mark McClain recently visited relatives in Frankfort Square before continuing their honeymoon trip in Wisconsin. The couple spent two days visiting the Jerry Seligas of 324 Greenfield Lane, and their daughters, three-year-old Ellen and one-year-old Karen.

According to Mrs. Seliga, family and friends gathered in Downsville, Wis., for the Nov. 4 nuptials of her brother and his bride, Mary. The newlyweds later drove to the Chicago area for their Nov. 9 and 10 stay.

St. Anthony's Council of Catholic Women will sponsor a Christmas Bazaar on Saturday, Dec. 2, and Sunday, Dec. 3, at the Parish Hall from 5:30 p.m. until 8:30 p.m. (Saturday) and 10 a.m. until 2 p.m. on Sunday.

According to chairwomen Mrs. Maris Euzikas and Mrs. Rosemary Sukis, there will be a handicrafts booth, baked goods, gift items, games for adults and children, ornaments, Christmas decorations and "penny candy" for sale.

Special feature will be a visit from Santa Claus.

C.C.W. presidents, Mrs. Pat McMahon, reports that proceeds from the event will help finance Council-sponsored projects for the parish. Traditionally, too, the Council tries to provide the Church with necessary supplies, such as the priest's vestments and altar boys' cassocks used during the mass.

"This is the St. Anthony C.C.W.'s first Christmas Bazaar," said Mrs. Euzikas, "and it's success depends on the support of parishioners. So please plan to attend."

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Butcher last week drove from their home in Independence, Mo., to visit their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Griffen, and their twin granddaughters, Kelly and Cherie, of 311 Holly Lane.

Doubtful of Mother Nature's ability to provide decent driving conditions around Dec. 25, the Butchers and the Griffens celebrate an early Christmas together each year, when the weather is slightly more bearable for motorists.

Reservations can still be made for the Second Annual Hayride-Christmas Party for Frankfort Square residents Saturday, Dec. 16, by calling hostess Mrs. Patrick M. Hanley at 469-3669.

Cost per couple is $23.00, and includes the hayride from 6 p.m. until 7 p.m. at the Schmaedeke farm and the dinner-dance at St. George and the Dragon Restaurant in Matteson, from 8 p.m. until midnight.

Music for dancing will be provided, and dinner will include turkey, ham, chicken and beef, and accompanying side dishes.

Entire cost of the evening, including gratuities, is included in the ticket price. All money must be paid to Mrs. Hanley by December 9.

Hoffmar-Rosner Sales Manager, Ed Spence, would like to remind Frankfort Square residents to disconnect hoses from all outside faucets to prevent plumbing-line freeze-ups.

"In particular, homeowners who moved here around April 1, must be especially careful to drain the plumbing system of all water by turning the anti-siphon device counter-clockwise to be certain that all water is removed from the pipes," Spence said. First, remove the hose; next turn the faucet handle until there is no water or dripping. Finally, turn the small, round anti-siphon device counter-clockwise until additional water is drained.

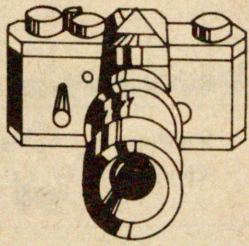

"The device is only on those homes which were first occupied on or near April 1, 1972; it was required under a new Will County ordinance," Spence explained. "But it is important that all homeowners remember to disconnect any hoses on outside faucets to prevent freezing of the pipes this winter."

Also, the young sales manager extended his good wishes to Frankfort Square residents for a bountiful and happy Thanksgiving holiday.

Browsing for bowser

Browsing for Bowser? Finagling for Felix? Whatever your pet — dog, cat, hamster, parrot or guppy — it's easy to pamper him at Christmas, suggests Felicia Ames, author of "The Dog You Care For" and "The Cat You Care For."

Dashing haberdashery is a natural in winter — no matter what the climate. If you live in Seattle, sporty types are apt to prefer a fisherman's raincoat of yellow nylon while Dachshunds claim the elite status of a "Doxie Drizzler." If you'd prefer an all-weather coat, you might be tempted by a continental cut which "brings out the best in any pet."

If you reside in more wintry climes, suggests Miss Ames of the Friskies Research Center, keep your pooch warm on snowy days with a practical acrylic pile snowsuit with legs and boots of leather or rubber. (The boots also protect against harmful, snowmelting irritants.)

If you're looking for indoor wear with a little more spangle, you may order a sequined Liberace suit (even if your Beagle doesn't look well in candlelight) or a hot pink, fake-fur wrap-around, highlighted with rhinestone buttons. Top hats for dogs who enjoy weddings are another possibility while Pulis with a penchant for parties might elect a gold lame dress coat with beige velour lining and a trim of blue ostrich feathers. Or, if Christmas means a new dog house, choose a copy of one made for Marie Antoinette's Pomeranian. It's available in red velvet with gold trim and priced just under Versailles at $400.00.

Catholic Charities slate Toy Shower

On Sunday, Dec. 3, Catholic Charities of Chicago will celebrate the Silver Jubilee of its annual Toy Shower.

In 1947, Father Bernard Brogan, director of what was then called the Catholic Home Bureau, invited friends of the agency to the first "Toy Shower" and asked them to bring toys and gifts for the hundreds of children under its care.

During the past 25 years, the enthusiasm for the Toy Shower has grown and in addition to providing Christmas gifts for its dependent children, Catholic Charities was able to extend the joy and peace of Christmas to the needy and lonely of all ages through its community-oriented programs.

Toys and other gifts brought to the Toy Shower should be new and unwrapped. Later, a Catholic Charities' employee will sort, wrap and deliver them in time for Christmas.

Instead of purchasing a toy, many guests at the Toy Shower prefer to give a cash gift. This money also is gratefully accepted because it enables Catholic Charities to purchase some particularly "wished-for" gifts at Christmastime and to respond to other special needs throughout the year.

Catholic Charities also is seeking gifts for hundreds of homebound elderly persons. Any item that would bring them a little cheer would be appropriate - toiletries, stationery, books, adult games, jewelry, smoking items, specialty boxes of foods, slippers, etc.

The public is invited to the Toy Shower, which will be held from 2 to 4 p.m. at the Charities' Central Offices, 645 W. Randolph St., Chicago. Santa Claus will be on hand for the children, and Charities' staff members will welcome all the guests and serve refreshments.

People unable to attend the Toy Shower on Dec. 8 may still participate by bringing or mailing their gifts to Catholic Charities.

Jacket prize winner!

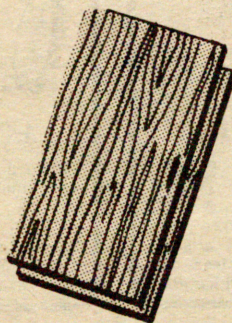

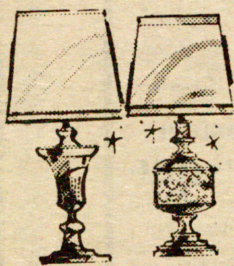

Mrs. Larry Kindle, area 4-H program director, and Richard Johnston, manager of the Park Forest Goodyear Service Store, give Sharon Rosenblum a helping hand with her new, highly visible, biking jacket. Sharon was recently awarded the jacket as the results of a bicycle safety competition.

Christmas in 1800's? Memories in Frankfort

FRANKFORT — This prairie village that had its beginning more than a century ago and is still retaining the atmosphere of the 1800's, is something of an antique in itself but is not listed as such in any of the shops that specialize in that field.

Frankfort, it has been pointed out on various occasions, is a center for seekers of antiques. There are many shops here that are filled with choice items harking back to the past and all of them do a good business.

The antique field is a wide one and the shops in Frankfort offer a wide variety. This is a necessity, it was pointed out, because the demand is so varied. There have always been collectors, and no doubt there always will be. What is one man's pride and joy antique is another man's junk, so shops have to offer a wide selection.

Upstage for holidays

Your house is on display more than ever during the holiday season, so be sure it glows from floor to ceiling with the holiday spirit.

Resilient floor tile can serve as the ideal stage for pre-season preparations and ensuing events. A new Fashioncraft tile line introduced this year by GAF Corporation combines sophisticated styling with the efficient maintenance and economics demanded by decorator — and budget-minded homemakers.

This series tile comes in a range of designs in keeping with today's trend toward environmental decors — rooms that interplay wood, wicker, brick and stone with flowers and plants. A brick tile design so grouted and textured it could foot a bricklayer or a slate design that could make a quarry worker look twice are just two of the deeply embossed, thick tile patterns available to home improvers.

Each tile, whether 12" or 9" square, is indexed so seams disappear. The floor design moves continuously across the room — the eye notices only the rich character of the pattern itself.

This floor tile thus creates wall-to-wall beauty. Indeed, the floor may be regarded as a "fourth wall," as it is just about that easy to care for. Mud or snow tracked in throughout the hectic holidays will wipe clean with a damp sponge. To bring out the rich, subtle patina in the floor tile, the manufacturer recommends only dry buffing after complete mopping to enhance Fashioncraft's style and design.

Walls are almost completed on the addition to the New Lenox State Bank and sometime this spring the project will be completed, according to the schedule. The addition will double the size of the banking facilities.

Hours of playtime

The best toys are those that give free rein to a child's imagination and to his constant urge for creative self-expression through building. Nature's own elements of sand, water and clay provide marvelous construction materials, as do man-made plastic building bricks.

This toddler is learning to build with a set of colorful jumbo bricks. Because they are large and clip together easily, he is able, without frustration, to construct while developing important eye-hand coordination.

His older brother enjoys endless hours of inventive play with the building. Using his imagination and knowledge of the world around him, he may create a complex Chinese pagoda or a simple truck. Building toys offer remarkable freedom of expression with timeless fascination.

Each part of the system clips together with every other part; so the child can add to his or her collection knowing that everything will fit.

Your own winery

A sure way to brighten holiday spirits is with wine of your own making. The place to learn how is the Ye Cooper Shoppe located in the Park Forest Plaza and in Monee, at Pauling Road and Route 50. Nothing compliments wine better than cheese. Find out the "how to" of cheese-making at Ye Cooper Shoppe too.

Trim your home the fun way

'Tis the season . . . one simple yet festive way to spread a bit of joy about the house is to take the sewing and trimmings box off the closet shelf.

Colorful ball fringe can be the perfect hanging trim for small trees, mantles, book shelves and even around the punch bowl — all filled in boughs of greenery here and there. Believe-it-or-not bows and ribbons can be another fun way of decorating for the holidays — whether they be tied on the tree, punch cups, brandy snifters, mistletoe and bough and even draped softly around the sconces over the handsome floral, round-the-clock sofa. It's so silly to keep a multitude of bright Christmas cards in hiding. Why not place them around as an additional note.

A novel gift - a new room

This Christmas give your daughter the privacy she needs for study (and to entertain her friends). This most appreciated gift might well be hidden right under your roof!

Santa suggests you give your youngster an attractive room of her own; remodeled from wasted space that was once a cluttered attic. He discovered that most attics are constructed in such a way that the main supports are in place. Because of this, a do-it-yourselfer can easily add a ceiling, walls and floor.

After "Santa" finished the carpentry and tile application; mother and daughter became Santa's helpers and decorated the room in a manner reflecting their own good taste.

Holiday candies easy to prepare

There seems to be a certain mystique about candymaking, and many of us, after an experience that was less than divine with divinity or other candies, restrict our confectionery activities to fudge.

So it may come as a surprise to learn that candies, like the jellies found in commercial assortments, are easy to make at home. These tender and clear gumdrop-type confections, such as lemon fruit-jell candy, are slightly softer and more transparent than the gumdrops you're used to buying. They make lovely gifts, tasting so fresh and homemade.

The candy mixture made with liquid fruit pectin sets in a few hours after pouring and is then cut into squares or other shapes which can be rolled in granulated or confectioners sugar. Or you can go fancy and roll them in cookie coconut or dip them in melted semi-sweet chocolate squares.

Lemon Fruit-Jell Candy

1 bottle (6 fl. oz.) liquid fruit pectin (Certo)

2 tablespoons water

1/2 teaspoon baking soda

1 cup sugar

1 cup light corn syrup

2 teaspoons

2 teaspoons lemon extract

10 drops yellow food coloring

Granulated sugar

Or use one of the flavoring and coloring variations that follow.

Combine fruit pectin and water in a two quart saucepan. Stir in baking soda. (Mixture will foam slightly.) Mix one cup sugar and corn syrup in another saucepan.

Place both saucepans over highest heat. Cook both mixtures, stiffing alternately, until foam has disappeared from fruit pectin mixture and sugar mixture is boiling rapidly - three to five minutes.

Pour fruit pectin mixture in a slow, steady stream into boiling sugar mixture stirring constantly. Boil and stir one minute longer. Remove from heat. Stir in extract and coloring. Pour immediately into buttered 9X5 inch loaf pan.

Let stand at room temperature until cool and firm - about three hours or overnight. Invert pan onto wax paper which has been sprinkled with sugar. Cut into 3/4-inch squares and roll in sugar. Allow candy to stand for a while; then roll in sugar again to prevent stickiness. Makes about one pound or five dozen candies.

Note: If these candies are to be stored or packaged, let stand overnight, uncovered, at room temperature before packaging or storing, to prevent weeping.

Fruit-Jell Candy Variations

Orange Nut Fruit-Jells. Use yellow and red food coloring and 1-1/2 teaspoons orange extract. Add one teaspoon grated orange rind and 1/2 cup chopped walnuts to the cooked fruit pectin sugar mixture. Roll the candies in confectioners sugar.

Chocolate-Coated Fruit-Jells. Make any desired flavor of fruit-jell candy. Cut in 1/2 to 3/4 - inch squares and dip in melted semi-sweet chocolate squares. For best results in dipping, have room temperature between 60 degrees and 70 degrees.

Powerful gift

Whether it be for hobby or livelihood a person working with power tools needs the best. The Skil line, provides that, and any of these — all are available at Embree & Rittenhouse in Frankfort — will make a Christmas gift that will be long remembered.

Christmas tree saver, beautifier

The beautiful green Christmas Tree covered with sparkling lights and ornaments can quickly become a dry, brittle fire hazard in your home. The warmth of your living room will cause the tree to dry out, the branches to sag, and the needles to fall. Then a bad connection or frayed wire in the decoration lights, a spark from the fireplace or from some other fire source and your tree goes from an object of beauty and joy to one of horror and destruction.

In order to slow the drying process of cutting trees a nationally known florist, Harold Cook, developed the popular Green Garde micronized iron homemade preservative. Mix it correctly and administer it properly and the fire hazard will be diminished and the life and beauty of your Christmas Tree will be extended.

Fire chiefs across the nation are urging homeowners with live cut trees to follow these directions; check all electrical equipment, use only flame proof decorations and use Cook's simple homemade preservative formula.

As soon as the live cut tree is brought home about 1 or 2 inches should be cut from the base of the trunk to eliminate any clogged resins. This will allow the tree to "drink" the preservative through the tree trunk. The formula should be immediately prepared and the tree placed in a tree stand designed to hold the liquid preservative. The sooner this is done the better the results will be.

Here is how to prepare the simple Green Garde formula:

First; place four tablespoons of the micronutrient Green Garde micronized iron (1 ounce) into a gallon container.

Second, add two cups of light syrup, such as Karo.

Third, add four teaspoons of liquid chlorinated household bleach.

Last; add a gallon of hot water. Mix ingredients well and then pour or ladle into the tree stand bowl.

The tree stand bowl should be checked daily to insure that at least one inch of preservative covers the bottom of the tree trunk. If it does not add more of the formula. The Green Garde micronized iron preservative can be stored, in a location inaccessible to children, for eight to ten weeks. It should however, be well stirred each time it is added to the bowl. The preservative only needs to be hot the first time the tree is placed in the preservative.
